BETTY BOOP 65TH ANNIVERSARY

BETTY BOOP

THE DEFINITIVE COLLECTION

Jerry Beck's TAPE TIP:

A lot of credit has to go to Bob Sigman, president of Republic Entertainment. When he joined the company two years ago, he knew there was some value to the fantastic Fleischer library of cartoons Republic owned. Because of my involvement in packaging the GOLDEN AGE OF LOONEY TUNES laserdisc sets, Bob contacted me about curating a collection of Betty Boop. Originally designed as a laserdisc set, I decided to keep most of the pre-code cartoons together and many of the later cartoons grouped by theme. Some people love the "Pudgy" cartoons and others do not, so I decided to group those together instead of inter-mixing them, likewise the "Grampy" films. Many rare titles are included here, including Barnacle Bill, Zula Hula, Sally Swing at the Concert, Honest Love & True, and Pudgy and the Lost Kitten. If anyone has good copies of those titles, contact us at Whole Toon! What is here is 115 Fleischer classics in their original black & white glory (except Poor Cinderella, presented in two-color Technicolor). 3-D backgrounds, Sammy Timburg music, Cab Calloway, Bimbo, KoKo, surreal pre-code humor and the famous Bouncing Ball for the ridiculously low price of $69.95. If everyone buys this set, maybe Republic can be persuaded to release the Screen Songs, Color Classics and George Pal Puppetoons!

BETTY BOOP DEFINITIVE COLLECTION VOL. 1

The Birth of Betty

62 min. 1930-31 [Fleischer] B&W

The first volume of the collection leads off with an introduction by Max Fleischer's son, Richard, followed by eight of the earliest Betty cartoons. The first few show Betty as an nameless walk-on playing to the top-billed star, Bimbo. This proto-Betty sports long dog-ears (but nothing else especially canine) that gradually become less prominent as both she and Bimbo evolve away from dogginess in later appearances. The final cartoon on the tape shows Betty as we're accustomed to seeing her, and also gives her top billing for the first time. 8 titles: Dizzy Dishes ('30), Barnacle Bill ('30), Mysterious Maze ('30), The Bum Bandit ('31), Silly Scandals ('31), Bimbo's Express ('31), Minding The Baby ('31) and Mask-A-Raid ('31).

Jerry Beck's TAPE TIP:

Disney just released one of its rarest pieces of cartoon history, and I urge you to check this out. THREE LITTLE PIGS is the latest release in Disney's "Favorite Stories" series and it contains three Silly Symphony cartoons: Three Little Pigs, Big Bad Wolf and Three Little Wolves.

First off, Three Little Pigs itself hasn't been available on videotape for over ten years. I had a hard time tracking down a print to review for my book "The 50 Greatest Cartoons". This is one of the all-time classics, the Oscar-winning cartoon that began Disney's brand of personality animation that not only inspired the animation industry, but the entire country with its depression-beating song "Who's Afraid Of The Big Bad Wolf?".

But here's the real reason for buying this tape: This is a brand-new crisp transfer from the original picture negative. When first released, the cartoon contained a scene of the Wolf disguised as the "Fuller-brush man": an outrageous Jewish peddler ethnic stereotype, complete with long beard and a huge, hooked nose. Quicky, Disney relooped the ethnic-sounding voice track, and in the 1940s actually re-animated the scene without the Jewish peddler disguise. For the first time in sixty years, you can see the original version, complete with the original United Artists opening title card. The voice track on this tape is the relooped version with a "Goofy"-esque voice.

The picture quality on this tape is outstanding and another cartoon, The Three Little Wolves, contains some outstanding Freddy Moore animation. All in all, a big bargain at $12.95. Grab this before someone at Disney gets wise!

SIEGFRIED & ROY: MASTERS OF THE IMPOSSIBLE

76 min. 1996 [DIC]

The Las Vegas animal-training showmen bring their inspiration to a feature length animated fantasy adventure about the quest to return magic to a once-enchanted land. Originally broadcast on the Fox Children's Network.

VHS: $30374 14.95

THREE LITTLE PIGS

28 min. 1933-36 [Disney]

On this latest compilation are found the Oscar-winning Three Little Pigs and two "sequels" from the Silly Symphonies series. All three cartoons are mastered from the original United Artists prints (see Jerry Beck's "Tape Tip" in this issue). In Three Little Pigs ('33 Oscar Winner) the Big Bad Wolf is only thwarted by the hardworking pig's house of bricks. In The Big Bad Wolf ('34 Silly Symphony) Little Red Riding Hood is rescued not by the woodsmen, but by our well-prepared third pig. In Three Little Wolves ('36 Silly Symphony) the two silly pigs stand in for The Boy Who Cried Wolf and must once again be rescued by the earnest third pig. Laserdisc also contains the cartoons on "Disney's Favorite Stories: Paul Bunyan."

VHS: $30376 12.95

Disney just released one of its rarest pieces of cartoon history, and I urge you to check this out. THREE LITTLE PIGS is the latest release in Disney's "Favorite Stories" series and it contains three Silly Symphony cartoons: Three Little Pigs, Big Bad Wolf and Three Little Wolves.

First off, Three Little Pigs itself hasn't been available on videotape for over ten years. I had a hard time tracking down a print to review for my book "The 50 Greatest Cartoons". This is one of the all-time classics, the Oscar-winning cartoon that began Disney's brand of personality animation that not only inspired the animation industry, but the entire country with its depression-beating song "Who's Afraid Of The Big Bad Wolf?".

But here's the real reason for buying this tape: This is a brand-new crisp transfer from the original picture negative. When first released, the cartoon contained a scene of the Wolf disguised as the "Fuller-brush man": an outrageous Jewish peddler ethnic stereotype, complete with long beard and a huge, hooked nose. Quicky, Disney relooped the ethnic-sounding voice track, and in the 1940s actually re-animated the scene without the Jewish peddler disguise. For the first time in sixty years, you can see the original version, complete with the original United Artists opening title card. The voice track on this tape is the relooped version with a "Goofy"-esque voice.

The picture quality on this tape is outstanding and another cartoon, The Three Little Wolves, contains some outstanding Freddy Moore animation. All in all, a big bargain at $12.95. Grab this before someone at Disney gets wise!

TEX AVERY

The Great Animation Director from the Golden Age of the Hollywood Cartoon

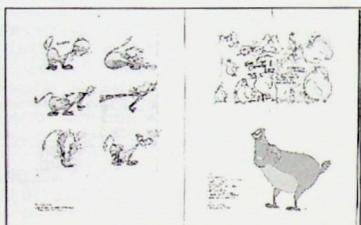

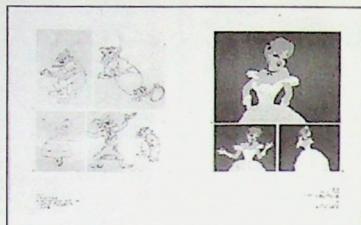

John Canemaker (1996)

This is essentially a beautiful "art of Tex Avery" coffee-table book—the American edition of the book by Pierre Lambert published in France several years ago. In fact, it is an exact reprint, but with all the French text replaced by the writing of John Canemaker. It covers the post-Warner Bros. career of Avery, from 1942-1955. Canemaker introduces each chapter of the book with background and criticism on the films depicted, and contributes an excellent, medium-length biography of Avery. But the reason you'll want the book is for the artwork—page after page of original cel setups, animation drawings, model sheets and backgrounds taken largely from the collections of Pierre Lambert and Mike Glad. It's really a stunning book, beautifully printed, and for the price it's a steal!

BEFORE THE ANIMATION BEGINS The Art and Lives of Disney Inspirational Sketch Artists

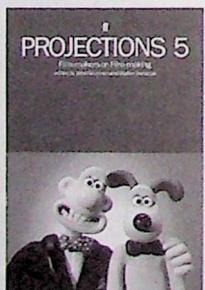

John Canemaker (1996)

Disney's animated films have always begun in the imagination of the inspirational sketch artist. These talented painters, designers, and illustrators attempt to conjure the "look" of a film—the character designs, the locales, the mood and use of color. For the first time ever, Canemaker chronicles the lives of these artists from the thirties to the present, analyzing their influence on productions, and detailing their interactions with the Disney studio. Included are such outstanding artists as Kay Nielsen (Fantasia), Albert Hunter (Snow White), Gustaf Tenggren (Pinocchio), Mary Blair (Alice in Wonderland) and Ty Wong (Bambi).
